Introducing John’s Newest Book

RECLAIMING VIRTUE
How We Can Develop the Moral Intelligence to Do the Right Thing at the Right Time for the Right Reason

Best-selling author John Bradshaw returns with a new thought-provoking work in RECLAIMING VIRTUE: How We Can Develop the Moral Intelligence to Do the Right Thing at the Right Time for the Right Reason. In his very accessible yet deeply felt way, Bradshaw synthesizes information culled from a wide range of disciplines—especially the most recent revelations in neuroscience—to illuminate our innate instinct for goodness and to show, step-by-step, how we can cultivate it in ourselves and in others—especially within our own families, and in our own children.

Transcending divisive debates about public and private morality, RECLAIMING VIRTUE is a fresh exploration of topics Bradshaw has made his own: the shaping influence of family, breaking free of the past, developing conscience and inner strength, loving wisely, mastering the power of personal change, and so much more.

As always, RECLAIMING VIRTUE contains moving vignettes from Bradshaw’s own life—a trademark touch his millions of readers and viewers will embrace.

Why read RECLAIMING VIRTUE?

1. It is a radical departure from the traditional way of teaching morality and is based on significant developments in the field of neuropsychological studies during the last fifteen years.

2. It is a call to good old moral virtue, harkening back to the earliest traditions of Greek moral philosophy and combining them with the tradition of the great Medieval theologian Thomas Aquinas.

3. It presents moral intelligence as a unique, innate intelligence that can be perfected through becoming the virtue of Prudence (how to choose well), which is the virtue of virtues.

4. It speaks directly to the polarization caused by fundamental extremists, who justify killing under the name of God, and it exposes the cruelty of any totalist culture of obedience which tolerates murder, torture, and mind control, thus negating any possibility for moral intelligence.

5. It offers a step-by-step, coherent view of the ethics of virtue, which aims at developing the inner strength of the soul, providing an ethics that fits the demands of the information revolution’s need for autonomy, individuality, and knowledge workers.

CREATING LOVE
A New Way of Understanding Our Most Important Relationships

In CREATING LOVE, John Bradshaw provides a new way to understand our most crucial relationships: with parents and children, with friends and co-workers, with ourselves, and with God. He shows us how we have been literally "entranced" by past experiences of counterfeit love, how we can break these destructive patterns, and how we can open ourselves to the soul-building work of real love.

John Bradshaw has touched and changed millions of lives through his nationally televised PBS series and his best-selling books. His previous book, HOMECOMING, introduced the concept of the inner child to a vast new audience. Now he defines the "next great stage of growth"—how we can work to create healthy, loving relationships in every part of our lives.

Written for everyone who has struggled with painful relationships and is seeking hope and a new direction, CREATING LOVE is a life-changing book.

FAMILY SECRETS
The Path to Self-Acceptance and Reunion

All families have secrets. Some secrets are healthy. But others—those John Bradshaw calls "dark secrets"—limit the wholeness and freedom of every member of the family, often generation after generation.

John Bradshaw’s compelling new book takes us into the heart of the family’s mysterious power to impact our lives. It explores how secrets are created, how they influence us (even if we don’t know they exist), and the risks we take in exploring them.

At the core of FAMILY SECRETS is a step-by-step guide to uncovering the secrets of the past and present, using a tool called the “genogram” to chart key relationships. Through many fascinating examples, this unique book shows how to recognize crucial gaps and silences, reconstruct missing information, and decipher partial memories.

It also offers readers vital advice on how to deal with the truths revealed, plus ways to stay safely and honestly connected with our families.

HOMECOMING:
Reclaiming and Healing Your Inner Child

“Three things are striking about inner child work,” says John Bradshaw, “... the speed with which people change when they do this work and the depth of the power and creativity that result when the wounds from the past are healed.”

We first see the world though the eyes of a little child, and that inner child remains with us throughout our lives, no matter how outwardly “grown-up” and powerful we become. If our vulnerable child was hurt or abandoned, shamed or neglected, that child’s, pain, grief, and anger live on within us.

“I believe that this neglected, wounded inner child of the past is the major source of human misery.”

HEALING THE SHAME THAT BINDS YOU

This classic book—written 17 years ago, but still selling more than 13,000 copies every year—has been completely updated and expanded by the author.

“I used to drink,” writes John Bradshaw, to solve the problems caused by drinking. The more I drank to relieve my shame-based loneliness and hurt, the more I felt ashamed.”

Shame is the motivator behind our toxic behaviors: the compulsion, co-dependency, addiction, and drive to superachieve that breaks down the family and destroys personal lives. This book has helped millions identify their personal shame, understand the underlying reasons for it, address these root causes, and release themselves from the shame that binds them to their past failures.

BRADSHAW: ON THE FAMILY
A New Way Of Creating Solid Self-Esteem

In this long-awaited revision, Bradshaw explores ways to escape the tyranny of family-reinforced behavior traps and shows you how to make conscious choices that will transform your life.

Based on the public television series of the same name, BRADSHAW ON: THE FAMILY is John Bradshaw’s seminal work on the dynamics of families that has sold more than a million copies since its original publication in 1988. Within its pages, you will discover the cause of emotionally impaired families. You will learn how unhealthy rules of behavior are passed down from parents to children, and the destructive effect this process has on our society.

Using the latest family research and recovery material in this new edition, Bradshaw also explores the individual in both a family and societal setting. He shows you ways to escape the tyranny of family-reinforced behavior traps—from addiction and co-dependency to loss of will and denial—and demonstrates how to make conscious choices that will transform your life and the lives of your loved ones. He helps you heal yourself and then, using what you have learned, helps you heal your family.

Finally, Bradshaw extends this idea to our society: by returning yourself and your family to emotional health, you can heal the world in which you live. He helps you re-envision societal conflicts from the perspective of a global family and shares with you the power of deep democracy: how the choices you make every day can affect—and improve—your world.

A THEOLOGY OF ADDICTION

Veteran philosopher, psychologist, counselor, theologian and teacher, John Bradshaw, is also an Emmy-nominated talk show host. John Bradshaw has touched and forever changed millions of lives through his best-selling books, seminars, workshops, seven widely acclaimed PBS series, and his nationally syndicated talk show The Bradshaw Difference with MGM.

In this intense workshop, A THEOLOGY OF ADDICTION, John Bradshaw offers his viewpoints on addictive behaviors and connects addictions with various theological and religious realities. This constructive lecture series explores the earliest roots of addictive behaviors and provides the listener with a new way to approach addictions from the theological perspective. Addictions are complex; while some addictive personality traits have genetic roots, others are conditioned in childhood. Many multiple-addicted individuals successfully change one behavior without changing all the others. John discusses the multiple-addicted personality and offers an original therapeutic approach to dealing with addictions.

This workshop, A THEOLOGY OF ADDICTION, is one of the many live recordings of John Bradshaw, including lectures, seminars, and workshops, that are in our extensive library. Over 2,500,000 professionals and laypersons have attended John Bradshaw’s workshops, lectures, and speeches. John Bradshaw is a well-respected primary figure in the contemporary self-help movement and was elected by his peers of professional therapists as “One of the 100 Most Influential Writers on Emotional Health in the Twentieth Century.” Many of his books are New York Times Best Sellers. John’s works are published in 42 languages all over the world. Corporations, institutions, treatment centers, prisons, therapists, and counselors use the theories and therapies presented in his workshops.

People who ordered A THEOLOGY OF ADDICTION with John Bradshaw also bought BRADSHAW ON: EATING DISORDERS, CO-DEPENDENCY, and the blockbuster series BRADSHAW ON: THE FAMILY.

ADULT CHILDREN OF DYSFUNCTIONAL FAMILIES

The problem of compulsive behavior patterns and addictions manifested by adults who grew up in dysfunctional families is addressed in this PBS lecture, ADULT CHILDREN OF DYSFUNCTIONAL FAMILIES, produced by Denver’s KBDI-TV and America’s most prominent self-help expert, John Bradshaw.

In this two-part series, John Bradshaw outlines a three-phase process of emotional recovery, uncovering to discovery. This series is a must for those who have long suffered the consequences of being raised with physical or emotional abuse, abandonment, neglect, and shame. John demonstrates how abuse is often carried into our adult lives, contaminating relationships and effecting our emotional health and that of our loved ones.

BEING LIKE LITTLE CHILDREN: Recovering Your Innocence

From America’s most prominent self-help expert and “One of the 100 Most Influential Writers on Emotional Health in the Twentieth Century”, renowned author, philosopher, and theologian, John Bradshaw, challenges us to recover our innocence and “become like little children.”

In this moving and powerful lecture series, John calls on his deeply rooted Christian theological background as he discusses an ancient tradition of spirituality that is rooted in “natural shame” (the essence of being perfectly imperfect human beings) and is a translation of the Christian story into psychological terms.

John Bradshaw takes us on a journey of discovery, from our loss of innocence through suffering, grief, and forgiveness, to the recovery of innocence and a new awareness of our calling and Christ-like destiny known as “the wonder child”. We are called by our higher power to imagine new ways of spreading the healing truths revealed as the will of Jesus’ Father, the most central being, the awareness that we are unconditionally loved and forgiven.

Part One: Original Sin—The Loss Of Innocence—A Psychological Perspective
Part Two: The Journey—Legitimate Suffering
Part Three: Absolute Forgiveness—Grieving Parental Wounds
Part Four: The Work Of Love—The Gift Of Natural Shame
Part Five: “Behold I Do New Things”—Personal Destiny And Imagination

This series, BEING LIKE LITTLE CHILDREN: Recovering Your Innocence, with John Bradshaw, urges you to accept the challenge of becoming light-bearers of this profound message—“Love makes all things ‘new’ and possible.” Modeling love means giving up judgment, forgiving all, and walking the path of mercy and compassion.

In this powerful, three-part PBS series, BRADSHAW ON: EATING DISORDERS, counselor and academic John Bradshaw offers a totally unique approach to managing the problem of food addictions, including anorexia nervosa, bulimia, obesity, binge eating, and the fat/thin obsession. John Bradshaw explains the biological, psychological, neuro-chemical, and psychopathological processes that encompass eating disorders.

In BRADSHAW ON: EATING DISORDERS, John provides a clinical process of healing eating disorders and discusses the danger of diets. His interviews with four dynamic people who have overcome eating disorders bring new insights to the problem of food addiction and obsessions with weight. He explains why diets not only do not work, but also can ultimately cause weight gain. John gives you his latest research and thoughts about weight maintenance and ten components of non-addictive eating. These ten components will help you accept and love yourself just as you are. John Bradshaw shows us how eating disorders get set up in family systems and discusses the clinical process of healing eating disorders. This series utilizes actual people who are working on their recovery with eating disorders.

Known to millions through his New York Times Best Sellers, nationally broadcast PBS specials, lectures, and workshops, Emmy-nominated talk show host and primary figure in the self-help movement, John Bradshaw has written FAMILY SECRETS for everyone who has ever lived in a family. All families have secrets. Some are healthy, but others—those John Bradshaw calls “dark secrets”—limit the wholeness, emotional health, and freedom of the family, often creating generations of dysfunctional family systems. Each individual in the family carries “family secrets”—if you don’t know what they are, you’ll probably repeat them.

As a prelude to his PBS television series, John Bradshaw takes us into the heart of the family’s mysterious power to impact our lives. It explores how secrets are created, how they influence us (even if we don’t consciously know they are there), and the risks we take in exploring them. He tells us the difference between dark and light secrets. FAMILY SECRETS explains, step-by-step, how to uncover the secrets of the past and present, using a tool called the “genogram” to chart key relationships. Through many fascinating examples, it shows us how to recognize crucial gaps and silences, reconstruct missing information, and decipher partial memories. In this audio lecture, John explores healthy family secrets, dangerous family secrets, tools for deciphering family secrets, breaking free from the secrets, and how to stay connected to the family.

It also offers vital advice on how to deal with the truths once revealed, plus ways to stay safely and honestly connected with our families, offering hope in moving through the darkness of destructive secrets into the light of freedom in all relationships. This audio lecture is the prelude to the nationally acclaimed PBS special, BRADSHAW ON: FAMILY SECRETS, and a companion to the best-selling book FAMILY SECRETS.

BRADSHAW ON: HOMECOMING
Reclaiming and Championing Your Inner Child

“Three things are striking about inner child work,” says John Bradshaw, “...the speed with which people change when they do this work, and the depth of the change and the power and creativity that result when the wounds from the past are healed.”

Nowhere has famed New York Times Bestselling Author and talk show host John Bradshaw’s influence been felt more profoundly than in the area of family systems where he touched millions of lives through his best-selling books, widely acclaimed PBS television series, and packed lectures and workshops. Now in this landmark Emmy-nominated, ten-part series for PBS, produced by San Francisco’s KQED, John Bradshaw presents new and powerful insights into how we reclaim our “wounded” inner child, and take the journey that awakens the potential of our deepest selves. If our vulnerable child was neglected, abandoned, shamed, or abused, that child’s pain, grief, and anger live within us. You may not even know why you continue to do things or be with people who make you unhappy.

Taped before a live audience, John Bradshaw combines excerpts from his Inner Child Workshops that powerfully, and often painfully demonstrate how reconnecting with your inner child through original pain work can be the source of hope, fulfillment, and regeneration. Therapists and psychiatrists around the world are using John Bradshaw’s transformative therapeutic methods. John Bradshaw’s inner child therapeutic theory is embraced and has enriched and changed the lives of millions of people worldwide.

Reclaiming and Championing Your Inner Child

“Three things are striking about inner child work,” says John Bradshaw, “the speed with which people change when they do this work, the depth of the change and the power and creativity that result when the wounds from the past are healed.”

Nowhere has famed New York Times Bestselling Author and talk show host John Bradshaw’s influence been felt more profoundly than in the area of family systems where he touched millions of lives through his bestselling books, widely acclaimed PBS television series and packed lectures and workshops. Now in this landmark Emmy-nominated ten-part series for PBS, produced by San Francisco’s KQED, John Bradshaw presents new and powerful insights into how we reclaim our “wounded” inner child, and take the journey that awakens the potential of our deepest selves. If our vulnerable child was neglected, abandoned, shamed or abused that child’s pain, grief and anger live within us. You may not even know why you continue to do things or be with people who make you unhappy.

Taped before a live audience, John Bradshaw combines excerpts from his Inner Child Workshops that powerfully, and often painfully demonstrate how reconnecting with your inner child through original pain work can be the source of hope, fulfillment and regeneration. Therapists and psychiatrists around the world are using John Bradshaw’s transformative therapeutic methods. John Bradshaw’s inner child therapeutic theory is embraced and has enriched and changed the lives of millions of people worldwide.

BRADSHAW ON: THE FAMILY
A New Way Of Creating Solid Self Esteem

The bombshell series BRADSHAW ON: THE FAMILY started a revolution in understanding family relationships and how families get messed up and mired in negative behaviors.

In this widely acclaimed PBS television series, BRADSHAW ON: THE FAMILY, John Bradshaw focuses on the crisis within the family today, how attitudes become encoded within family members and then acted out on the family and society as a whole. It provides indicators on how to know if your family is healthy; warning signs of unhealthy, destructive, and dysfunctional behaviors; and what you can do if your family has been contaminated and is in crisis. This worthwhile and widely acclaimed PBS series contains ten one-hour programs focused on the dynamics of the family relating to how and why incest, battering, compulsive or addictive behaviors are set up, and help with intervention, healing, and forgiveness for those in despair and crisis in their relationships. This series provides the revolutionary theory of healthy families and provides coping skills and hope for the family in crisis.

John Bradshaw's legendary work on the dynamics of the family has touched millions of lives with a message of hope and resolution for today's family. In this groundbreaking lecture, world-famous spiritual Guru, John Bradshaw, utilizes intensive recent family research to show how families have changed in response to economic circumstances over the years. The so-called traditional family never existed. The era of Leave It To Beaver and Ozzie and Harriet are unprecedented in American history. Nevertheless, for the first time in human history, we know how families, as social systems, can become dysfunctional and what makes healthy functional families. John Bradshaw shows how the information revolution can bring new life to families.

He counsels listeners to honor each family member for his/her own unique contributions to the family relationship and extends the idea of a global family. He focuses on how family rules and attitudes become encoded within each family member and then acted out within the family and society as a whole. John Bradshaw presents compelling evidence that healing the emotional wound of the family can affect and heal the world in which we live. This lecture series FUTURE OF THE FAMILY with John Bradshaw is a must for those interested in understanding and healing family relationships, offering hope for our global family. This series is recommended for public and academic libraries.

HEALING THE SHAME THAT BINDS YOU

As selected by his fellow mental health professionals, John Bradshaw is “One of the 100 Most Influential Writers on Emotional Health in the Twentieth Century.” His insights on childhood and family relationships—and particularly the long-term effect of issues like abuse, neglect, addiction, co-dependency, trauma and emotional instability—have revolutionized our perception of emotional healing and interpersonal dynamics. His body of work, including five New York Times Best Sellers, seven major PBS specials, daytime talk show The Bradshaw Difference with MGM, speeches, workshops, and training and lecture series, has helped millions of people heal.

BRADSHAW ON: HEALING THE SHAME THAT BINDS YOU has sold 1.5 million copies and is John Bradshaw’s most enduring work. In it, he shows how unhealthy, toxic shame is the core component of our compulsions, including, co-dependency, lying, addiction, and the drive to super-achieve or underachieve. This toxic shame, most often experienced in childhood, results in the breakdown of our self-esteem, the destruction of the family system, and an inability to move forward and form lasting intimate relationships in our lives.

This lecture, HEALING THE SHAME THAT BINDS YOU, with John Bradshaw, reveals John’s theory and therapeutic processes on the healing of toxic shame in an honest and emotionally revealing style based largely on his personal experiences with abuse, neglect, and addictions and his decades as a counselor and therapist, philosopher/theologian/psychologist, and personal growth expert. By utilizing emotionally healing tools, including experiential exercises, affirmations, visualization, inner voice work, feeling work, guided meditations, and other healing techniques, John Bradshaw helps us move from the source and manifestation of toxic shame to the release of the shame that binds us to our past and onward to a newly awakened spirituality.

MEDITATIONS WITH A DIFFERENCE

In this intense meditative series, MEDITATIONS WITH A DIFFERENCE, John Bradshaw offers two very different meditations framed with enchanting soothing music.

The first meditation, entitled Small Gestures of Love, offers you a healing experience that comes from one very small gesture of love and reminds you of the power you have to make a difference in the world by choosing to make small gestures of love. Through this meditation, John Bradshaw offers ways to connect with the soulful experience of joy and love.

In the second meditation, entitled A Path To Wholeness, John Bradshaw asks you to imagine a private banquet feast where you invite all the parts of you that you really like. However, unexpectedly, unwelcomed guests arrive. These unwelcomed guests are the parts of you that you hide from others and wish to disown. In this meditation, you find it takes a large amount of energy to disown parts of your self and hide it from your public life. This meditation suggests that you can become whole only by acknowledging and embracing your disowned parts.

This series, MEDITATIONS WITH A DIFFERENCE, is one of the many live recordings of John Bradshaw including lectures, seminars and workshops that can be found in our extensive library. MEN AND WOMEN ARE FROM EARTH AFTER ALL: Effective Ways To Deal With Ten Problems Inherent In All Relationships

Emotional health expert and relationship counselor John Bradshaw once again applies his relationship genius to his latest series, discrediting the current thinking that men and women should not be expected to relate. From his academic and personal experience, to his years as a counselor, he is uniquely qualified to offer advice on achieving harmony in relationships between man and woman or any loving relationship. "There are problems in all relationships, some of which can be solved and others that cannot," Bradshaw concludes.

In this series, John Bradshaw outlines ten problems faced in virtually all relationships, shows us how to recognize them, and offers practical guidelines on how they might be managed or resolved. John points to the latest clinical studies on what factors constitute healthy relationships. Often the underlying assumption is that a significant relationship is a “problem” to be solved, rather than a drama and mystery to be lived. John offers clinical data on the many meanings of “a good relationship.”

In this powerful series, MEN AND WOMEN ARE FROM EARTH AFTER ALL: Effective Ways To Deal With Ten Problems Inherent In All Relationships, John Bradshaw points to clinical studies that offer extensive research on what factors constitute well-functioning relationships, as well as factors, when chronically present, lead to misery, separation, and divorce. Bradshaw offers his belief that “in the evening of life, we will be judged by love alone.” This belief can help us to face these relationship challenges courageously and with a sense of hope and well-being.

MEN AND WOMEN ARE FROM EARTH AFTER ALL: Effective Ways To Deal With Ten Problems Inherent In All Relationships, with John Bradshaw, is recommended for personal, academic, and public libraries and those searching for a new way to think about lasting loving relationships.

POST ROMANTIC STRESS DISORDER: Why The Honeymoon Must End And What You Can Do About It

Selected by his fellow mental health professionals as “One of the 100 Most Influential Writers on Emotional Health in the Twentieth Century,” John Bradshaw explains why the honeymoon must end and what you can do about it. “Being in love is not love,” explains John Bradshaw.

In this dynamic, five-part lecture series, POST ROMANTIC STRESS DISORDER, recorded live with workshop participants, relationship and personal growth expert John Bradshaw, offers positive, concrete, and creative ways for finding more meaningful love, intimacy, friendship, and fulfillment in our relationships. John Bradshaw offers you a realistic understanding of why many self-help books and a large amount of marital therapy have neither stemmed the rising divorce rate nor brought a solution to the terror of aloneness that keeps many couples bound in boring and non-fulfilling relationships. Much new research, including findings in anthropology, evolutionary psychology and neuroscience, has necessitated that we look at marriage and long-term relationships in a new way, adopting expectations that are more realistic about our relationships. One conclusion of several recent studies suggests that one or more of the major issues in most marriages will seldom be fully resolved. This audio book, POST ROMANTIC STRESS DISORDER, offers ways of having fulfilling relationships, though they may look somewhat different from our familiar love patterns of our past.

- Part One: Defining Post Romantic Stress Disorder

RETURN TO VIRTUE:
An Ancient Key To Developing Emotional Intelligence

“The development of our emotional intelligence is often far more important to human happiness than IQ…”
– John Bradshaw

John Bradshaw, philosopher, counselor, theologian and teacher, has touched and forever changed millions of lives through his best-selling books, seminars, workshops, and seven widely acclaimed PBS series. In this special presentation RETURN TO VIRTUE: An Ancient Key To Developing Emotional Intelligence, John Bradshaw introduces a new understanding of what it takes to foster your own, your children’s, and others’ moral intelligence. Drawing from ancient sources, he points to an urgent need to cultivate the development of the four cardinal virtues of our lives—Prudence, Justice, Temperance and Fortitude. Prudence is the perfected state of what is being called moral intelligence. Without the virtue of prudence (understood as moral intelligence), no other virtue is possible.

John Bradshaw carefully defines emotional intelligence and shows how it is the cornerstone of justice, temperance (self-restraint), and fortitude (courage). This groundbreaking material marries ancient wisdom and modern brain research, offering positive new approaches to re-educating yourself, as well as practical guidelines for educating your children and others. John Bradshaw’s new ethics of virtue show you how to make the right decision at the right time for the right reason.

This audio book, RETURN TO VIRTUE, with John Bradshaw, is recommended for personal, academic, and public libraries and those searching for new ways to model virtue and re-educate themselves and their children on moral intelligence and right reasoning.

THE CORE OF SPIRITUALITY

THE CORE OF SPIRITUALITY is one of acclaimed theologian, philosopher, and New York Times Best Seller author, John Bradshaw’s most powerful lectures. In this series, John Bradshaw brilliantly weaves together a core of spirituality using a vast array of philosophical and theological points of view that bring hope to listeners. In this moving lecture, John discusses the ancient tradition of spirituality—one that is rooted in “natural shame”, which is the innate affect that lets us know we are limited and that we are imperfect beings…that we are human. We come to realize that we do not need to pursue the culturally accepted norms of perfectionism that create toxic shame.

John Bradshaw believes the present spiritual crisis has been precipitated by certain culturally accepted norms of perfectionism. These norms create toxic shame, because as perfectly imperfect beings, we can never measure up to the norms of perfectionism. John sees hope in the 12-Step Movement, which has revived an ‘ancient spirituality of imperfection’. John Bradshaw illustrates how healthy shame, an awareness of our limits, is crucial for us to function and is the very source of our spirituality.

This series, THE CORE OF SPIRITUALITY with John Bradshaw, is recommended for personal, academic, and public libraries and those interested in discovering their depth of spirituality and how it can guide them in their life.

Respected psychologist, relationship expert, counselor, venerable theologian, and renowned teacher, John Bradshaw, is also an Emmy-nominated talk show host. John Bradshaw has touched and forever changed millions of lives through his best-selling books, seminars, workshops, seven widely acclaimed PBS series, and nationally syndicated talk show The Bradshaw Difference with MGM studios.

In this intense lecture series, THE SHAME-BASED FAMILY, John Bradshaw offers his perspective on ways multigenerational shame is transmitted in family systems and is the root cause of addictive and compulsive behaviors. John Bradshaw uncovers the dishonesty, selfishness, and resentments that build as a result. He explains how to heal from co-dependency.

From our earliest years, we learn that we are rewarded with acceptance for being “nice” at the expense of being denied the expression of our true feelings, or being who we really are. Ultimately, we become the actor in a role of being the nice guy or sweetheart. John Bradshaw explains how such behavior can destroy relationships and intimacy by never being honestly connected with others. It creates an intimacy vacuum where the victim is the nice person. In its ultimate destructive form, it erupts into rage or spontaneous acts of violence, or it can be internalized in the form of emotional or physical illness.

John Bradshaw offers practical insights into how we can learn to be kind but firmly direct about how we feel and find that place in our lives where we can be who we are. This series provides excellent resources and will help the listener understand how toxic, and potentially dangerous, a person who is, on most levels, “too nice,” can be. Ministers, counselors, therapists, and anyone in helping professions could gain much understanding from the material found in this series. The problem with being overly nice is that it is a mask for stored, internal rage, and it is at the same time rage-producing.

This series, THE SHAME-BASED FAMILY, is one of the many live recordings of John Bradshaw, including lectures, seminars, and workshops that are in our extensive library. WHEN HELPING DOESN'T HELP

Emmy-nominated talk show host and veteran philosopher, counselor, theologian, and teacher, John Bradshaw, has touched and forever changed millions of lives through his best-selling books, seminars, workshops, and seven widely acclaimed PBS series. In this remarkably honest lecture, John Bradshaw describes how co-dependency is often found in those in “helping” professions—teachers, counselors doctors, dentists, social workers, nurses, priests and therapists—but this recording is applicable for all “helpers” and “rescuers”. We become human doings instead of being human beings, and we handicap others’ growth by not allowing them to experience any disappointment or pain and developmental triumphs.

This series, WHEN HELPING DOESN'T HELP, is one of the many live recordings of John Bradshaw, including lectures, seminars, and workshops that are in our extensive library. Over 2,500,000 professionals and laypersons have attended John Bradshaw's workshops, lectures, and speeches. WOMANKIND

Veteran philosopher, counselor, theologian, and teacher, John Bradshaw, is also an Emmy-nominated talk show host. John Bradshaw has touched and forever changed millions of lives through his best-selling books, seminars, workshops, magazine columns, seven widely acclaimed PBS series, and his daytime talk show, The Bradshaw Difference with MGM.

In this informative lecture series on WOMANKIND, John Bradshaw discusses the psychodynamics of today’s woman. This is an important lecture on the empowering force of woman. John Bradshaw offers his perspectives on the complexities of womanhood and the importance of self-actualization of woman. The lives of women have been blurred by the patriarchal society.

John Bradshaw uses the poetic legend in Greek mythology of Amour, the son of the goddess of beauty Venus, and a beautiful girl Psyche, to describe the stages of women’s self-empowerment, development, and growth. This theme is taken from Metamorphoses, by the ancient author Apuleius (2nd Century AD). According to the legend, Psyche was so beautiful Venus was jealous and sent her son Amour to harm Psyche. However, when Amour saw Psyche, he was mesmerized and secreted her to his palace where he saw her every night under the veil of darkness. He prohibited her from seeing his face. Envious and devious sisters prompted Psyche to disobey the ban, and she tried to see her beloved using a night-lamp. When she bent towards her mysterious husband, a drop of oil fell from the lamp waking Amour up. Enraged, he left Psyche.

This series, WOMANKIND, is one of the many live recordings of John Bradshaw, including lectures, seminars, and workshops that are in our extensive library.
